Nuestro sistema toma en cuenta cosas como lo reciente que es una calificacion y si el revisor compro el producto en Amazon. Tambien analiza las calificaciones para verificar su fiabilidad. My only caution is that it is depressingly easy to misalign the paper and thus punch holes too close to the edge. I recommend practising with some scrap sheets of A4 to get the hang of things, otherwise you will end up having to reprint your document a couple of times.Gracias por su comentario. professionally bound document. This model easily adjusts to accommodate the most popular paper sizes including letter and A4 to ensure a professional finish on a wide range of documents. The builtin comb opener has added guides and indicator lines that help to streamline the binding process, reducing errors and improving operator efficiency. When power is on, a green indicator light will be illuminated.

Push the comb opener handle toward the back of the machine until the hooks are in contact with the document. The comb should be inserted so that the solid edge of the spine is behind the metal comb support fingers and the open side is facing up. Note If you are using a GBC ProComb, it should be inserted so that the colored arrow on the comb is aligned to the corresponding arrow on the machine. The colored arrows adjacent to the comb opener will provide an indication of when the comb has been adequately opened in order to insert the punched pages of your document. To ensure that the pages are punched evenly, they should be jogged by tapping them against a flat surface prior to insertion. Note If you are punching thick cover stock or clear PVC covers, you will need to reduce the number of sheets per punch to avoid jamming the machine. Note If the punch jams, the red jam light will illuminate and the machine will automatically reverse in an attempt to clear the jam. Remove the paper from the punching throat and push the punch button to reset the machine. When the machine is successfully reset, the red jam light will turn off to indicate that the machine is ready to use. Reduce the number of pages and try punching again. Continue punching your book in sets of up to 15 pages and placing them onto the open comb until it is fully assembled. Lightweight and compact, ideal for use anywhere, at any time and easy to store when not in use. We do not collect any bank details. Payments are processed offsite via Payfasts secure infrastructure.
